

Section 2: Explore the database (primary keys and foreign keys of each table) offices(officecode, city, phone, addressline1, addressline2, state, country, postalcode, territory) employees(employeenumber, lastname, firstname, extension, email, officecode→offices.officecode, reportsto→employeenumber, jobtitle) customers(customernumber, customername, contactlastname, contactfirstname, phone, addressline1, addressline2, city, state, postalcode, country, salesrepemployeenumber, creditlimit) payments(customernumber→customers.customernumber, checknumber, paymentdate, amount) orders(ordernumber, orderdate, requireddate, shippeddate, status, “comments”, customernumber→customers.customernumber)

orderdetails(ordernumber→orders.ordernumber, productcode→products.productcode, quantityordered, priceeach, orderlinenumber)

products(productcode, productname, productline→productlines.productline, productscale, productvendor, productdescription, quantityinstock, buyprice, msrp) productlines(productline, textdescription, htmldescription, image)

Note: as requested, primary keys are in bold and foreign keys are shown as: FK→column they reference